A Brief Introduction

I am a Professor of Family Medicine at Ankara University School of Medicine and a dedicated advocate for primary healthcare, family medicine, and global health. Over the years, I have worked extensively in medical education, clinical research, and international health policy, focusing on strengthening primary care systems and advancing the role of family medicine worldwide.

I have had the privilege of serving as the Past President of WONCA Europe (2019-2021) and the Past President of the European General Practice Research Network (EGPRN, 2016-2019). Throughout my career, I have been actively involved in international collaboration, representing family medicine in key organizations such as WHO Europe, the European Cancer Organization, the European Medicines Agency (EMA), and multiple EU-funded healthcare initiatives.

My academic journey began at Istanbul University (1987), where I earned my medical degree, followed by specialization in family medicine (1993). Since then, I have worked extensively in both clinical practice and medical education, contributing to the development of academic family medicine in Turkey. I was among the founding members of the Turkish Association of Family Physicians (TAHUD, 1990), served as President and have played a central role in the advancement of family medicine training programs across the country.

Beyond academia, I have been deeply engaged in migrant and refugee health, leading medical screening programs authorized by the U.S. CDC, UN, and International Organization for Migration (IOM). Through my work, I have helped develop training programs for healthcare professionals treating refugees and have advocated for better mental health support, tuberculosis screening, and vaccination policies for displaced populations.

I have authored over 100 peer-reviewed publications and contributed to multiple international books and reports on family medicine, public health, and medical education. My research focuses on primary healthcare development, patient empowerment, overdiagnosis, preventive medicine, and migrant health. Currently, I serve as the Co-Chair of the Scientific Committee for the 2025 WONCA World Conference in Lisbon, where I continue to shape the future of global family medicine.

Personal Life:

I am married to Handan Ungan, MD, a fellow Family Medicine Specialist, and we have built our careers in the same field, sharing a deep commitment to patient care and medical education. We have two wonderful children. My daughter, Nazlı Ungan Aygar, is an attorney based in New York, holding an LL.M. from NYU and a JD from Columbia University. My son, Efe Ungan, has recently graduated from Koç University School of Medicine in Istanbul. I divide my time between Ankara and Istanbul, balancing my professional responsibilities with my personal life.

Charity-Social Work:

I have been a member of one of the oldest social and charitable organizations in the world carrying principles of Integrity, Friendship, Respect and Charity.

I worked in Foundations and clubs that invest in our future leaders and philanthropists by funding scholarships for undergraduate and graduate study.

I provide scholarships by my own resources to a number of undergraduate-university students who need it due to the devastating earthquakes where many families were destroyed.

With my team in both practices, we are helping the refugees living in Turkey, who were regarded as temporary guests, in their health needs and immunizations, both in Ankara and also in Istanbul. With my team we are trying to be a bridge between UN and international organizations like IOM and International Catholic Migration Commission-ICMC and the CDC.

Qualifications:

Based on the list of my publications, my strongest research interests include:

1. Primary Health Care (PHC) Development – I have been deeply involved in shaping PHC strategies and policies, particularly in Europe. My work with EGPRN and WONCA highlights my commitment to strengthening PHC research and implementation.
2. Migrant and Refugee Health – My research includes migrant health screening, tuberculosis, mental health, and noncommunicable diseases (NCDs) in refugee populations. My role with international organizations like WHO and CDC further supports this focus.
3. Patient Empowerment and Health Literacy – Many of my studies explore patient-centered care, health literacy, and the empowerment of patients, especially those with chronic diseases like diabetes and hypertension.
4. Overdiagnosis and Screening Practices – My research includes studies on overdiagnosis, unnecessary medical interventions, and appropriate screening methods in general practice.
5. Vaccination and Infectious Disease Control – I have worked on HPV vaccination strategies, hepatitis, tuberculosis, and other public health concerns related to immunization.

6. Burnout and Mental Health in Primary Care Professionals – My research on burnout in family doctors across Europe is widely cited and addresses a crucial issue in the healthcare workforce.
